

Existence is a personal quality —
a state of being in itself that is somehow different for each of us.
We all travel in separate spheres —
in worlds of our own.
As we go freely
along our different ways, we realize
through our dealings with others that we are merely parts of a greater whole.
So it is
here at the university.
We are part of the institution known as UNC-Charlotte
which is itself
only part of something greater.
To someone other than ourselves,
our existence
here
is negligible.
We are told
that we are important as integral parts
of the whole.
But are we really essential?
Probably not.

Each of us
 is a part of this system called a university—
 a system that is designed to operate regardless of the presence or absence of one of its integral parts.
 There is nothing essential
 about any one of us other than a name and
 a computer number.
 Collectively, we are important to this university which is
 "for the students."
 Individually,
 we're not really noticed.

J. MURREY ATKINS LIBRARY
 UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT CHARLOTTE

The question now brought to mind is why are we here?

What are we looking for?

Since we value ourselves more than anyone else values us, why not simply withdraw into our own private world?

Indeed, this would be easy to do.

We are all wrapped up in our own daily activities—eating, sleeping, going places, doing things.

But somehow this is not enough.

This is not the answer.

This will not work.

Apathy and passive indifference fail miserably when we admit that we care about doing a good job of this business called living—about really finding the ultimate truths of life.

We continuously seek out those people
and those things
which are most important to us.

To the people here,
what matters the most?

Where
do we find the answers
we are searching for?

Everyone tries to answer questions such as these
in his own way.
Some may find
what they are looking for
in just one other person.

Others find
what they are looking for
through relationships
with others,
or through different forms of recreation — such as games —
sports —
hobbies.
For some
the answer can be found in something as simple as beauty.

Beauty—
in many different forms.

To some of us here at the university, the educational process provides answers to many of our questions.

These people
 can content themselves with searching the thoughts of wiser men
 to find what they are seeking.
 Others, however,
 must actively participate in something — anything —
 to find any meaning in life.
 They are compelled
 by some urgent drive
 to join a cause or
 to start a movement.

Involvement can go even further. Soon it can develop into concern — a genuine concern for others. These people are the ones that become the leaders. In the interest of others and in their attempts to make significant changes come about, they try to provide some of the answers to life's questions. Many times they are misunderstood or else not heard at all. The important thing is that they are at least making an effort to improve the whole that we are all a part of.

After all, the degree of one's involvement with life is not the important issue. Some must try harder than others. Everyone goes about living in a different way. The most important thing is that we try to learn the ultimate truths, to answer life's many questions — no matter what we do or become.

"For the apathetic . . .
existence itself is a mistake or a failure.
For the enthusiasts . . .
not only is it better to be than not to be,
but it is always possible, indeed it is their supreme interest in life to grow towards ever more being."

With only a minimum crew of five runners, the harriers fought through their toughest schedule in their three year history. The team opened the season in Kentucky against Berea, University of Kentucky, Cumberland College, and Morehead State University. Bright spots in the season included: completion of the finest cross-country course in the area, a home victory over second place St. Andrews 27-30, and fine improvement by all runners. Mike Ridge led the harriers all season and finished 4th in the DIAC-NAIA Championship Meet.

Although most of the wrestlers this year had never wrestled before, the team showed fine improvement and displayed a strongly competitive spirit. The team members were capable of winning, but a lack of depth hurt team scoring. Cecil Carver, who had no previous wrestling experience, came on strong at the end of the season and finished second in the DIAC in his weight class.

UNDER MILKWOOD

UNC-C's bowlers continued their winning ways again this year. For the fifth straight year, the bowling team finished among the conference leaders. All five of the team members had averages of better than 170 per game, and four bowlers finished in the DIAC top eleven. With most of the team returning, the bowlers should be strong contenders for the next year's championship.

The basketball team became the first UNC-C team to win a DIAC Championship. The team's record see-sawed back and forth around the 0.500 mark and at mid-season their record was 5-5. The team finished strong by winning seven of its last eleven games, and closed the season with a 12-10 mark—plus the tournament championship. Ben Basinger, tournament Most Valuable Player, played inspired ball throughout the season and especially during the tournament. The turning point in the team's play seemed to be the development of poise and control in close situations. The joy of victory—How sweet it is!

COMMUNICATION: THE KEY TO UNDERSTANDING—

March 3, 1969

The University Forum Council, in offering its fourth annual forum, is featuring communication in several of its many aspects. Verbal communication with all the subtleties of nearly 3,000 languages spoken today is an important part of communication. How difficult it is to translate from one to another of these languages without being misunderstood. More complex than verbal exchange, however, are the many other communication systems being employed in our technological age. Electronic signals transmitted across thousands of miles assist man in his attempt to communicate. The need for man to understand the world around him and the events occurring in distant reaches, has caused him to develop newer and more elaborate transmitters and receivers. Whether a picture image or a beep, the effort is to increase man's knowledge. Mismanagement of these systems could cause serious results to our nation and the world. Toward a better understanding of the significance of communication in our technological society, the Forum Council has assembled four outstanding men of our time. Each is from a different profession, but each, in his way, is a communications expert.

THE GALLERY

The Rogues 'N Rascals makes its second presentation of the Gallery in order to recognize students who have made worthwhile contributions to the University. To quote from last year's yearbook, the Gallery was started "in order that excellence, outstanding activity, and productive participation might be recognized in all stages of campus life; and in order that we might cite students of spirited interest in the growth of the university and displaying a special quality of esprit de corps . . ." To this list of attributes, we add, and emphasize, constructive activity. Many students have been active, but not in an unselfish manner that is worth recognizing. With these things in mind, we present this second edition of the Gallery with hopes that it will increase considerably in the year to come.

Reddy To Rock

Reddy Kilowatt never misses a party. In fact, without him, things would be pretty dull. Think of it: no stereos, televisions, electric guitars or ice cubes.

Thanks to Reddy there are over 160 flameless electric servants that make modern living comfortable, economical and fun. When you have a home of your own, there will probably be even more than that.

To those of you who liked the '69 ROGUES 'N RASCALS:

"Yes, yes. Thank you, thank you. We think it's great, too. Yes, we enjoyed putting it together this year just as much as you enjoyed looking at it."

To those of you who found fault with the '69 ROGUES 'N RASCALS:

"Put your criticism to good use! 'Do your own thing' on the yearbook staff this coming year." (They really do need the help!)

Thanks go out to Phillip Morgan for the use of his photograph on page 1, to Knight Publishing Company for the pictures of President Nixon (p. 15) and Mary Smith (p. 46), and to B.J. Fuller of Greenville, South Carolina, for all his excellent photography that was used on far too many pages to enumerate. Special thanks are also in order for Kay Watson, Phil Wilson, Art Gentile, Chuck Howard, Bill Alexander (the only staff photographer to turn in his assigned faculty pictures on time), Bud Farrington, Bill LeTempt, Hunter Publishing Company, Pat Harris, and especially Rod Smith who was patient enough to put up with me during this long, hard year as editor.
